ABSTRACT

The title of this thesis is The Effort to Improve the Faith Builders' Quality in Building Catholic Teenagers' Faith in the Parish of Nanggulan, Kulon Progo of Yogyakarta. The starting point is that there is a concern happening in the Parish of Nanggulan that so far, the building of teenagers' faith has deteriorated. It is caused by the inadequacy of faith builders' ability in building the teenagers' faith in a proper way. In addition to that, the faith builders do not organize the work well and are without sublime motivation. The discussion on the faith builders' quality has become the first step to carry out a research. The faith builders' qualities cover: spiritual life, knowledge and skill in building faith. Through the research, the writer aims at finding out the builders' spiritual elements and various effort in improving the faith builders' quality. In addition to that, the research is trying to seek the data which support the hypothesis above, that is that the deterioration of faith building is due to the inadequate faith building.

Research methodology. The research was done in the whole parish of Nanggulan. The research time was in September 24 – October 15, 2000. In using the instrument for collecting data, the writer used the research questionnaire given to all faith builders for teenagers in the whole parish of Nanggulan. The research result analysis was done by discussing each variable and measuring the co-relation among the research variables.

Through the research result analysis and its reflection, the writer concluded that the cause of the deterioration of the faith building for teenagers was because the faith builders was not adequate. The effort done to improve the faith builders' quality was that by having a training program. This thesis ended with a suggestion to have the training program given to the faith builders for the Catholic teenagers in the parish of Nanggulan and a conclusion.
