Attending the meeting of the Executive Council of the Asian Parliamentary Assembly (APA) in Phnom Penh (2-3 October), the delegation chairman of the Indonesian House of Representatives (DPR), Rofi Munawar, said that they had discussed 24 different drafts of resolutions to the recent issues taking place in Asia.

According to him, it is the best occasion for the Indonesian delegation to clarify the Indonesian position on all those issues including that of Rohingya Muslims' crisis.

"It is about time for Indonesia to clarify its position on all the issues especially that of humanitarian crisis in Rakhine," he was quoted as saying by hidayatullah.com on Tuesday (3 October).

Rofi Munawar, who is the legislator from the (Islamic) Prosperous Justice Party (PKS), admitted that Rohingya issues were very sensitive ones. Together with the delegations from Turkey and Iran, however, Indonesia completely supported to discuss the resolution draft to Rohingya Muslims' crisis.

"We have encouraged all of the delegations to extract the Indonesian 4+1 solution formula to the crisis and implement it as the consensus solution to the very humanitarian crisis," he said, adding that Indonesia insisted that it would be, indeed, the fundamental and comprehensive solution.

"The point is not to forget the root of the crisis and that the government of Myanmar would soon acknowledge and admit those Rohingya Muslims as the citizens of Myanmar constitutionally," said Rofi Munawar.
