The products developed in the study were validated by three material experts, three media experts and four Catholic Education and Character teachers. The result of the feasibility validation by material experts was 79.10% with the predicate "Eligible". Meanwhile, the media experts obtained the validation value of 88.42% with the predicate "Very Appropriate". Thus, the validation results given by Catholic Education and Character teacher was 83.54% with the predicate "Very Appropriate". The prototype of media application for the online learning which has been designed in a conceptual process passed the validation test and was stated as feasible to be further developed. The validation brought about some suggestions and comments which were used as the basis for the author to carry out the revision process. The revisions consisted of the use of appropriate learning models and placement of proper materials. In conclusion, it can be stated that the prototype of media application used for grade 8th students to learn Catholic Education and Character in the material of Jesus Christ's personality is very appropriate to be developed into a proper media application for online learning.*
