To answer the research problems, the writer uses the theory of perception, theory of integrated skills, and theory of teaching learning methods. Each theory will be applied to help the researcher find out the correlation between the result of the research and also theories proposed by the experts.

In this research, the researcher uses a survey research method. In order to collect the data, the researcher distributes the questionnaires to all of the ELESP Sanata Dharma University students who are in batch of 2011. Besides, the researcher also conducts an interview with the course coordinator of CLS class. The interview is conducted in order to help the researcher discover the answers for the first question, and the second question is answered by distributing the questionnaires.

From the interview, the researcher finds that the implementation of CLS has already been appropriate and gives positive effects to the students in order to increase their English ability, such as the students' listening and speaking skills are improved at the same time. From the questionnaires, the researcher finds that most of the students (80%) give their positive responses to the whole statements. From the results, the researcher infers that the students comprehend, feel, and experience the implementation of integrated skills approach. Furthermore, the researcher also infers that the implementation of integrated skills approach is applicable and acceptable to be implemented in CLS class. Besides, the researcher also finds some suggestions from the students.
