Dear Thanis,

Thank you very much for your effort. I really appreciate it and learn a lot from you. I really understand your role as the editor in-chief, as I also manage a journal in our university. If you are interested in publishing your manuscript, please visit <https://e-journal.usd.ac.id/index.php/LLT/index>. The journal is just accepted for Scopus inclusion. <https://suggestor.step.scopus.com/progressTracker/?trackingID=8B9C570ADA3BF6BC>

Once again, thank you and have a great day.

Dear Priyatno

I checked with the ethics board and it seems there should not be a problem. So we'll just include Yazan (2018) as originally written. Thank you also for clarifying on Zhang's paper.

We are finalizing it now. Should be available online by tomorrow or Friday

Thank you.

Dear Editors,

Thank you very much. I think it will be better if I remove the reference (Yazan, B. (2018). A conceptual framework to understand language teacher identities. Journal of Second Language Teacher Education, 1(1), 21-48). I deleted the in-text citation (Page one, Line 2) and the reference.

Related to the other one, I have checked in the source and it is 2022, as written in how to cite the article.

Attached is the file that I revised. I am sorry for the inconvenience.

Subject: More on References

Dear Priyatno,

I don't mean to nag you but some of the references you included are inconsistent.
This one, for example, has 2 publication sources.

Yazan, B. (2018). A conceptual framework to understand language teacher identities. Journal of Second Language Teacher Education, 1(1), 21-48.

https://www.researchgate.net/publication/327514138_A_Conceptual_Framework_to_Understand_Language_Teacher_Identities
<https://journal.equinoxpub.com/SLTE/article/view/24908>

It's the exact same article but two different journals. This is a matter of ethical concern for us. Please verify this or in the worst case, remove this source.

Thanis

Dear Thanis Bunsom,

Thank you very much for your email. I have checked the references.

1. I cited Turhan, B., & Kirkgöz, Y. (2021) when the article was not assigned to the volume and issue. But, I just checked that it is now assigned to Vol 46, Issue 2 (2023). Therefore, I changed the in-text citation into (Turhan & Kirkgöz, 2023) (Page 4 and 5) and also the references.
2. The Volume and Issue 0(0) is because the status of the article is "online first", for example: <https://journals.sagepub.com/doi/10.1177/13621688231165349>. The journal suggests that we use 0(0) for the online-first article. However, in the revised one, I deleted 0(0) to avoid confusion.

I attach the revision. Thank you very much for your help.

Dear Priyatno,

I am bouncing your paper back for another check of references.

We had formatted your article, asked you to approve it and while we were taking one final look before uploading it, we spotted a lot of errors.

I highlighted them and would like to ask you to be much more careful when revising this time. As you can see, small details matter and can delay the whole process.

Dear Editors,

I decided to add the wording in the discussion to provide the clearer cultural context. On page 21, it is now written: In the Indonesian context, teachers are considered authority figures whom the students should follow and obey, commonly found in teacher-student relationships in Javanese culture, as indicated by Ardi (2017) and Dardjowidjojo (2001).

Therefore, please use the latest version as attached in this email. Thank you very much.

Dear Priyatno Ardi,

Greetings from Bangkok.

Thank you for your revised manuscript and your patience.

I could see that the manuscript has been revised and formatted very carefully and I really appreciate your time and effort. Before we proceed to the next step, however, I have noted a few issues that need to be clarified such as your research setting, an inconsistency in references and etc.

There are some recommendations that I have put in the comment boxes but you don't have to follow them if you think they are irrelevant.

Kindly resubmit your manuscript asap so we can finalize it for publication.

Subject: Submitting an Article to rEFlections

Dear Irham,

Thank you for choosing rEFlections as the destination of your publication. Congratulations, we are delighted to inform you that your manuscript has passed the initial screening stage.

As you may know, we have recently migrated to a new journal system, ThaiJo, for all future submissions. While we acknowledge the receipt of your documents in Editorial Manager (EM), in order to ensure a seamless transition, we would appreciate it if you can repeat the submission process for ThaiJo. Here are some steps to help guide you through this quick new process for the peer review stage:

1) The first step is to register on our website: <https://so05.tci-thaijo.org/index.php/reflections/user/register>

Note: If you already have an account, please skip and proceed straight to Step 3.

2) Follow the steps, enter your details and be sure to verify your account through your email afterwards to complete the registration process.

3) Once you're finished, click on the option to Make a New Submission or click on New Submission (if you're at the 'Dashboard') to begin the submission process.

4) Select the appropriate 'Article Type' for your manuscript and ensure your manuscript meets all the 'Submission Requirements' before proceeding.

There are now only two documents required for every submission in our system:

- (i) an anonymized manuscript (authors' names and acknowledgements removed); and*
- (ii) a cover page (a biodata detailing your affiliations and academic career)*

For the cover page, you may follow this link and scroll down to 'Submission' for more details on writing it. You may also find other useful information for authors on this page.

5) Once both files are attached, simply continue following the steps and filling in all necessary information until the end of the 'Confirmation' stage. Ensure again that all your details have been entered correctly and then click on 'Finish Submission' when you are finally satisfied with them. Your submission should be complete after this step.

Should you have any queries or encounter any problems during the process, please feel free to let me know and I will do my best to assist you.

Once again, thank you for choosing rEFlections and we look forward to working with you.

Thank you for bringing this issue to our attention. It is weird indeed that the option does not appear on your end as it does on ours.

In either case, we have started the submission process on your behalf but have not attached any files. Please see if you can see the 'Incomplete Submissions' option on your menu.

If you can, you may attach your files from there on. If not, please make sure that when you log in, you are logged in as 'Author'.

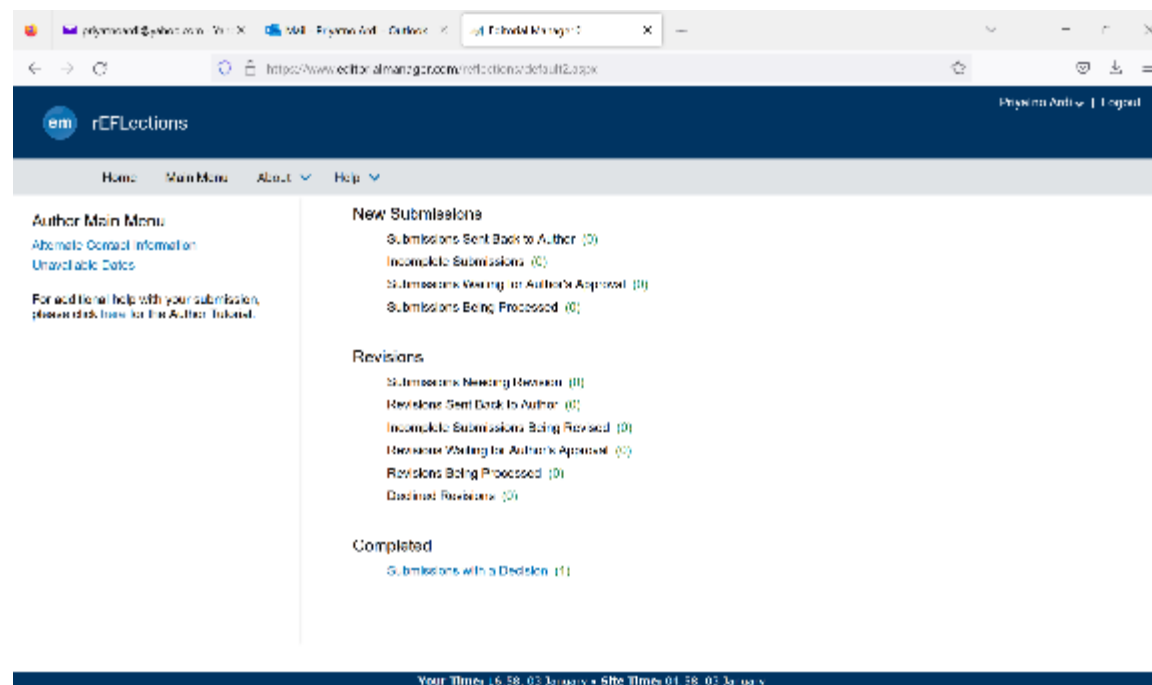

Thank you and let me know if the issue persists.

Subject: Submitting an Article to rEFlections

Dear Author,

Happy New Year and thank you for choosing rEFlections as the destination of your publication once again. Congratulations, we are delighted to inform you that your manuscript has passed the initial screening stage.

My name is Howard Lim, and I am sure you are familiar with this next step. Please proceed to make a submission to our journal system, Editorial Manager (EM) for the peer review stage. In case certain aspects in the system become complex for you (since it has been some time since your last publication), here are the required steps for your reference, if you need them.

- 1) The first step is to register on this website: <https://www.editorialmanager.com/reflections/default.aspx>
- 2) Register as an author and once you're finished, you may 'Submit a Manuscript' at the Main Menu.
- 3) For the 'Article Type', please select 'Original Article' as this option will allow you to attach your manuscript and other necessary files.

There are four documents in total required for the system:

- (i) original manuscript;*
- (ii) anonymized manuscript (author's name and acknowledgements removed);*
- (iii) cover page (a biodata detailing your affiliations and academic career)*
- (iv) author's agreement*

For the cover page, you may follow this link and scroll down to 'Submission' for more details on writing it. You may also find other useful information for authors on this page.

For the author's agreement, some examples have been attached in this email for your perusal. You may modify them and include your signature and your co-authors' signatures (if any).

- 4) Once all files are attached, simply follow the steps and fill in all necessary information until the system prompts you to 'Build PDF for Approval'. After clicking on this option, it will take some time for the system to actually build your PDF submission. Wait for 5 minutes or so before refreshing the page to 'View' your submission, then check all details and finally, 'Approve' it when you are satisfied with it. Your submission should be complete after this stage.

Should you have any queries or encounter any problems during the process, please feel free to let me know and I will do my best to assist you.

Once again, thank you for choosing rEFlections and we look forward to working with you.
