The Catholic Church in the Fight Against Corruption

Antonius Galih Arga W. Aryanto

Contents

Introduction 2
Theological Meaning of Corruption 3
Corruption in the Thought of the Church Fathers 4
Augustine: Corruption as Humans' Original Sin 4
Thomas Aquinas: Corruption Is Contrary to the Common Good 5
Corruption in Church Teachings 6
Social Teachings of the Church 6
Catechism of the Catholic Church 7
Corruption in the Thought of Pope Francis 8
Apostolic Letter "Motu Proprio" 8
Corruption in the Encyclical Laudato Si 9
Pope Francis' Homilies on Corruption 11
Federation of Asian Bishops' Conferences on Corruption 12
Concrete Efforts to Prevent and Fight Corruption 14
Conclusion 16
References 16

Abstract

The Church must prioritize the prevention of corruption as an integral component of its mission to proclaim the Gospel and defend the value of social justice. The widespread presence of corruption has led to its deep integration into the fabric of society, resulting in public scandals that have tarnished the nation's reputation. The root causes of corruption are often seen as structures of sin, driven by an insatiable pursuit of profit and a lust for power. This study examines the problem of corruption from the perspectives of Church Fathers, the teaching of the Church, and the insights of Pope Francis. The church must implement policies and

A. G. A. W. Aryanto (✉)
Faculty of Theology, Sanata Dharma University, Yogyakarta, Indonesia
e-mail: galiharga@usd.ac.id

© Springer Nature Switzerland AG 2026

E. Chitando, S. M. Kilonzo (eds.), Handbook of Religion and Corruption, Religions of the World, https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-031-84029-6_55-1